The University of Global Health Equity (UGHE) is an initiative of Partners In Health (PIH), an internationally recognized non-profit organization whose mission is to provide a preferential option for the poor in health care. For nearly three decades, PIH has worked with public sectors in countries around the world, developing models to deliver high-quality health care to some of the world's most marginalized communities.

Nowhere has this impact been more profound than in Rwanda, where Inshuti Mu Buzima—PIH's sister organization and government partners have driven innovation for over a decade.

UGHE's community is committed to social justice, learning from diverse perspectives, and upholding academic integrity, intellectual curiosity, and humility
